

Modalidad: Teleformación.

Duración: 70 h

Objetivos:

Whilst revising and recycling the structures and vocabulary covered in previous blocks, the learner receives extensive practice in all areas. By the end of this block the learner will have been exposed to the range of vocabulary and grammar necessary to reach the C1 level of the CEFR and therefore be classed as a proficient user of English.

This final section focuses on fluency and natural usage of grammatical structures in a variety of more complex situations. The learner will encounter lexical fields such as: superstitions, describing scenery, agriculture, ecology, politics and giving impressions of art through the review and extension of grammatical structures such as: conditional phrases, future perfect and continuous, verb/noun transformations, compound adjectives, quantifiers and synonyms and antonyms.

In addition to the extension of abilities in all of the skills areas: reading, writing, listening and speaking, the learner will be encouraged to eliminate any recurring errors through a full tense review and continued pronunciation guidance.
